SECOND SEMESTER. Impressive Gathering at Columbia

STATE UNIVERSITY'S

-W. L. Sheldon's Lecture Was Well Received.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Columbia, Mo., Jan. 20.-The second semester of the sixtieth annual session of the Missouri State University opened with convocation yesterday morning. It was fitting that the beginning of the second session of the most prosperous period of its whole history should be characterized by the most impressive gathering of facutly, students and citizens of Columbia that has ever been here. In addition to this the address of Mr. W. L. Sheldon of St. Louis was among the most excellent that have ever been delivered under the auspices of the Missouri

State University. On the rostrum Doctor R. H. Jesse, president, and members of the faculty sat in cap and gown. Beginning the exercises a quartet, composed of Miss Eva Johnston, Mrs. J. C. Jones, Doctor Stewart and Roy Johnson, rendered "Hark, Ten Thousand Voices Singing." Miss Julia Burgess of the First Presbyterian Church choir sang a solo, after which an invocation was offered by the Reverend Doctor Henry P. Horton by the Reverend Doctor mem, ... of the Calvary Episcopal Church of Colum-

In introducing Doctor Sheldon, President Jesse paid tribute to his ability and usefulness as a public speaker by saying he had a national reputation and that his public addresses were always for the eleva-

What Makes Life Worth Living. In introducing his address, Doctor Shel-don facetiously remarked that he was awed by the wearers of the caps and gowns sitting upon the rostrum. He said that he was going to make a statement which at first might seem to be sacrilegious. It was was going to make a statement which at first might seem to be sacrilegious. It was this: "Life as we know it and see it is a lottery." The chances are that each one of you will prove a misfit. Not one in 10,000 has the opportunity for using his best talents. What makes life worth living? The answer to this question Doctor Sheldon did not get out of books, but out of the experiences of his own life. He said that there were two classes of people in the world that were especially loathsome. Their words are blasphemous. One of these is the self-made man who claims that everything he is he owes to himself. He forgets the chances that are back of his success, and these "chances" are God. The other is the young man who goes upon the principle that the world owes to him a living. "That young man is waiting for the niche in life which will never come."

The attitude of life that is not wasted is that of a fighter. True life for man or woman is that of the clinched fist. The spirit of fight is a God-given end that is to save mankind.

Doctor Sheldon paid his compliments to certain phases of social life. He spoke of soirit of fight is a God-given end that is to save mankind.

Doctor Sheldon paid his compliments to certain phases of social life. He spoke of people in St. Louis who thought it their duty to go to afternoon teas. He didn't suppose there were any such in Columbia. He regarded such motives as being nothing short of a calamity. They were doing a thing without a purpose and that made it a calamity. It was for the time being and without any thought for the hereafter. He expressed the wish that he could bring his people of St. Louis to Columbia, with its schools and life as he supposed it to be, that they might breathe in their spirit. He said that if he could know the impulses and the control of mind which any young man in the audience had he could write a book which would foretell what kind of a man he would be. The man who foregoes his first impulses for the present for the sake of the future is the one whose life is worth living. The life worth living is the life of work.

In conclusion Doctor Sheldon said: "I am willing to be an experiment of Nature and In conclusion Doctor Sheldon said: "I am willing to be an experiment of Nature on the outside if I am winning my soul on the inside. That is what makes life worth living."

Attorneys Rowe and Krum, representing Judge Sidener, protested against allowing the Mohrman woman's testimony, but Mayor Wells overruled their objections. Mayor said that he intended to hear all the evidence, direct or indirect, bearing upon the manner in which the First District Police Court has been conducted.

The Mohrman woman testified, and the records were produced to show, that she was arrested and was under bond to appear at the First District Court on July 20, 1901. She was tried by default and fined $50. She She was tried by default and fined $50. She stated that while in Court Samuel Lears, a frequenter of the Central Police Court, approached her and said he could have the case noile prossed for $3. She said that she paid this money and left the courtroom, but was arrested a week later by a Deputy Marshal and was taken to the Four Courts. At the latter place she said that she was told that she must pay $53 to cover her fine and the costs of the case. She asserted that she paid this amount and was released. Attorney Miller approached her, she said, about ten days later.

The City Attorney's docket and the report of Clerk Pat Regan of the First District Court showed that in the Mohrman case a $50 fine was imposed. The Clerk's blotter and Judge Sidener's docket showed that a $50 fine had been imposed and an execution ordered. Examination of the latter entries indicated that reference to an execution had been scratched out and the words "fee bill $5" interlined.

JUDGE SAM'L TREAT'S CONDITION IMPROVES.

Veteran Jurist and Oldest of Harvard Students Up From Sick Bed.

The condition of Judge Samuel Treat, who has been seriously ill for several days at his apartments in the Hotel Beers, was considerably improved yesterday. He was able to leave his bed and be about his room. It was stated that while still very weak from his recent attack, the prospects for his recovery are good. Mrs. Treat and her niece, Miss Jennings, were in constant attendance upon the venerable jurist during his illness.

Judge Treat, who is in his eighty-eighth year, has been troubled with growing weakness. A slight cold, which he contracted last week, was aggravated by the present cold spell and resulted in an attack which compelled him to remain in bed.

Judge Treat for thirty years occupied the position of United States District Judge in St. Louis. He is one of the most highly honored and respected jurists in America. He is the oldest living member of the Har-vard University alumni, having been gradu-ated from the college in 1837. He was born in New Hampshire, in 1815, but has been a resident of St. Louis continuously since

The Eastern Judicial District of Missouri was created in 1857, and Judge Treat was the first Judge to preside over it. His appointment was made by President Frankin Pierce on March 3, 1858. His record as a Judge is without a blemish, and during his thirty years on the bench, nearly every variety of case in American law came before him.

I feel it my duty to inform you of the good Wine of Cardui has done me and is still doing me. I have been a sufferer for some time with female troubles and it seemed at times I could scarcely bear my suffering. At last I lost appetite and became so languid I could do nothing but lay about from day to day, until finally my mother induced me to try your Wine of Cardui, which I did with great success. I have only taken two bottles but there is a decided change in looks and feelings.

and find the same relief she found. The reputation of this pure Wine rests upon what 1,000,000 cured women like Mrs. Stutz say of it—1,000,000 American women who know the distress, agony, terror and anguish, humiliation and despair that female troubles bring to a modest woman. We tell you that this curse—this misfortune—may be banished forever by the use of Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui will regulate menstrual derangements just as surely as the moon regulates the tides. It is a simple, bitter, vegetable wine, perfectly harmless under all circumstances, and used in connection with Thedford's Black-Draught, to assimilate and digest its virtues, it will regulate the menstrual habit, stop the pains, restore the menses when suppressed, stop them when flooding, prevent miscarriage, make the period of pregnancy pleasanter, confinement easier and recovery quick. Procure a bottle from your druggist and take it in the privacy of your home. You cannot doubt this.
